Note: Community Based Abstinence Education (CBAE), the American Family Life Act (AFLA), and earmarks are rounded to the nearest million.

*This includes only the portion of the program dedicated to abstinence-only-until-marriage programs.

†Fifty million in federal dollars is allocated for the Title V abstinence-only-until-marriage program. The grant requires states to provide three state-raised or in-kind-service dollars for every four federal dollars received. If all states participated in the program and contributed matching funds, the match would total $37.5 million.

‡For FYs 2001–2009, CBAE included approximately $4.5 million each year for evaluation.

×The Competitive Abstinence Education (CAE) grant program was created within the Consolidated Appropriations Act of FY 2012 and is tied to the Social Security Act Title V, Section 510(b) A–H definition of “abstinence education.”

#In addition to the three traditional funding streams, at least $3.75 million in earmark funds was allocated for abstinence-only-until-marriage programs in FYs 2004 and 2005, along with $835,000 in FY 2008 and $535,000 in FY 2009. The majority of these earmarks went to Pennsylvania.
